

Literature Reviews (Part 2)

Due at the Start of Lab: Paper 1

Rationale for Today's Lab Session

Week 4 introduced basic skills needed for conducting literature reviews. Beyond finding articles, students in the course should be able to identify and categorize articles that use different types of research methods (i.e., experimental vs. non-experimental research) and critically evaluate the quality of the research.

Objectives

- Work on completing the next assignment, “Lab 5”
- Ask the lab instructor for any additional help needed
